The new King Tut exhibit is now open to the public at the Indianapolis Children's Museum

The exhibit features more than 100 artifacts from the tomb of King Tut and other ancient Egyptian sites. The pieces span 2-thousand years of Egyptian history.

Rehab Morsi drove in from Connersville with her family. Born and raised in Cairo, Egypt, Morsi has seen her native country's ancient treasures before, but she says the exhibit is amazing. "The whole family is enjoying a very nice day. They did a great job in both modern Egypt and ancient Egypt as well."

The King Tut exhibit will be at the Children's Museum through October 25th.
